

Bobby-Jay

Joan Clark

Clarke's work as a code breaker saved many lives.
Joan Clarke's ingenious work as a code-breaker during WWII saved countless lives. Joan was born in June 24th 1917 in west Norwood London and died September 4th 1996 in Headington Oxford.

Monday 18th november 2019

we are learning to vary ^{our} ~~our~~ sentence structures.

Words:

I recommend this book as it is about ^{sp} a the letter e. He is all alone and has no friends, and some mean words are saying rude and ^{nasty} ~~nasty~~ things to him because he is different and isn't like the other letters. There is also some kind and helpful words. They show him ^{love} and the other letters show him ^{hat-e} ~~hate~~, e does ~~not~~ ~~did~~ ~~not~~ know ~~what~~ ~~do~~ thought that there was only ^{one} option ~~to~~ go with, and that was love. This book will help children if they are feeling ^{left out} ~~left out~~ or not wanted.

Giraffes can't dance:

I recommend this book as it is about ~~on~~ a giraffe who can't dance and other animals can. They make fun of him because they think ~~is~~ that the giraffe can't dance as he is too tall and will fall over or bash his head into something. ~~In~~ Later, the giraffe proves them wrong and all the other animals are in disbelief and shock. This will help children if they ~~are~~ ~~are~~ being made fun of just they can't do something others can. Also ~~adults~~ Parents should read this book to their children as it might boost their confidence and try new things.

Dinosaur drip:

Dinosaur ~~drip~~ drip is about a small T-rex who gets bullied by the other large dinosaurs. ^T they bully him because ^{they} ~~they~~ think they

Turing Turing

that they are stronger and better than ^{him} ~~him~~ ~~because~~ because of their size. I would ~~recommend~~ ^{so} recommend this book as (because) if your children ^{are} ~~are~~ feeling upset or angry ~~to~~ because they are smaller than the other children, you can read them this book and remind them ~~that~~ that everyone is ~~also~~ different and unique.

Willy the wimp:

This book is about a ^{Chimpanzee} gorilla ^A who gets bullied because he is a wimp and is scared of everything, until ^{one day} ~~one day~~ he sees a poster which tells him how to ^{become} ~~get~~ strong. ^A after about ^{five} ~~5~~ weeks, he has more self-belief and ^{stands} up to the bullies.
The moral of this story is to believe in yourself. I would ^{so} recommend you (to) read this book to your child/children so that they will have more self belief in themselves and know that they can do anything if they put their mind
to it.

Wednesday, 20 November 2019

we are learning to ^{vary} ~~vary~~ our sentence structures.

Yesterday morning, my grandchildren came round to for breakfast. I asked ^{bring back} ~~him~~ one of my grandchildren, Bittie Billy, to come go to the farm to ~~get~~ some milk from the cows, eggs from the chickens and some bacon from the pigs. Billy said ~~that~~ that he would, ~~get go~~ but he also asked if he could meet his friends on the way home and play some football with them for ten minutes.

That very moment in time brought back so ^{many memories from} ~~many many~~ ~~memories~~
^{my childhood.}
• ~~are~~ memories. I remembered all the times that my dad ^{arrive at} used to • ~~go~~ ask me to go to the ~~farm~~ farm and ^{to bring home} ~~get~~ ~~bring~~ eggs, milk and bacon for and I ~~was~~ always used to ^{respond} ~~to say~~ the same response with the same question Billy asked me, "can I go and play football with my friends ^{on} the way home for ten minutes."