We are learning to vary our sentence structures.

Giraffes Can't Dance

This book is good for your child because this it teaches your child to do anything no matter if they are tall or whatever they look like. When your child feels like she he or she can't do it, you can read it to them as it is about a tall giraffe who was peglated because he was tall and everyone thought he couldn't dance but he could.

Big Red and Little Betty Wolf

This story is about a big person named Big Red and a girl named Little Betty wolf (and) the girl named Big Red. Big Red was being rude and bullying Little Betty and the only reason she was doing that was because she didn't have any friends. Parents can use this to help their child to not use their anger on other people and to control their anger.

Tyrannosaurus Rex

This is about a dinosaur who is smaller than everyone else and he gains his confidence and proves them wrong. This would be good for your child when they are feeling lower than everyone else to boost their confidence. This would be necessary only when they think that they don't feel like any good enough.

Willy the Wimp

This is about a boy who is scared of everything and he looks at a poster and everyone thinks he is strong and scares all the bullies away. This can make good for your child as it can help them overcome those their fears.

We are learning to vary our sentence structures.

It was the day my family arrived when my grand-children and I got all my old things. They rang the door bell and gave me a huge hug. My eldest grandchild gave me a kiss and picked up the baby. We all said hello and then we started our dusting. I picked up my box and I suddenly had a flashback of my old memories of how I lost my mum and Dad back into my head.

It was the day where my dad was leaving to go to war I said my goodbyes and gave him a kiss on the cheek and a hug. It was just me and my mum later that day there was another bombing it hit and shook the entire house. My mum pushed me outside we both ran to our shelter then my mum tripped over and then she was hit by the bomb and died. That day I was scared for life and I was heartbroken. I was taken to an orphanage and they treated me horribly.
