LO: We are learning to link ideas across paragraphs by using adjectives of time.

The day would go to our school trip. We were going to the Science Museum to learn about forces. The atmosphere was electric as year 5 cheered the week last Tuesday (3rd December). On the journey to London I sat next to Scarlett and Violet, the journey was fun but boring. The first part was fun because Violet had a small notebook that we placed bags upon in the other part of the ferry. The journey was boring because we had nothing to do.

After some time we arrived at the museum. First we got in to all groups my group was with Mrs Heron. After that we all went to the glass area where children were having stories from the library on display, there was also signs and they confused me with all the different parts in it.

Later we went to the information age where we saw old telephones and some of use looked how to use them but it was very hard for me to and some other people to understand how to use them. There was one section where you put headphones on and you could listen they I played cards with Scarlett we played with two different packs I was ~~stunned~~ The ~~to~~ work was loud and was filled with change that's the the science museum was really fun and I had a good day.
