We are learning to use consistent and correct use of tense throughout a piece of writing.

Dear diary,

I have an amazing feeling about writing to you finally. I am going to tell you all of the things* that happened* through the expedition. When endurance started I felt a bit sad because I had to leave my family behind but I also felt excited because I get to go on an amazing journey on endurance. I was so excited I *felt

* that happened

* felt over as I was going up the stairs.

As we were traveling guess what I was presented with the union flag. As we were traveling there was a Stowaway and the person who caused was called Percy Blackblow but he stayed with us. This made me feel surprised obviously because Stowaways are never really often.

Then people were sent or drank way too much alcohol and fell straight off the back of the boat and died. I had a great time after all of that happened. About a month ago we were in a big of whirl of wind and then we realised that we were trapped in over 3 feet thick ice.

This made me feel devastated and, angry and Scared. I felt Scared because I did not know if we would be able to get home. I felt devastated because I just couldn't believe how many bad things we have been through already.

So we just had to use the boat kind of for a base. Things were getting worse, it was so cold. Right now in endurance and I am watching the dangerous killer whales swim in the great ocean. My relationship is going normal. I have made a really good friend but it's not a human it is one of the dogs obviously, his name is maison.

I miss home a lot but I'm okay. My thoughts are that it has been a bad journey so far because there was a Stowaway and people having to leave because of them drinking. We are in the middle of nowhere.

My future. I'm feeling okay but I have a feeling that things are going to be bad. I hope to write to you soon Shackleton.
