

expanded noun phrases. Next time, use them to move events on.

Monday 19th November 2018

I we are learning to develop our range of sentence starters.

As I was ironing my mums dress for her birthday, I was watching her open her presents. This astonishing event reminded me of something. It was Edward, the mind toy. Then I looked around the bright, big room that I was in.

I finally saw him on the highest shelf. As I went to grab the ladder, I remembered about the clothes that Edward wore.

After, I grabbed the ladder, I went to find the clothes.

20.11.18 When I brought Edward down, I brought I loved the feel of him!

All of this made me go back to my seventh birthday.

Firstly, I was in my bed and woke up. I hid it by the shining morning sun that almost blinded me. It was the most exciting day of my life. It was my seventh birthday I was so excited for the day ahead.

A marvelous <sup>there was</sup> something on the end of my bed, there was a big box. The present had a tag which said ~~how~~ who it was from. It was from Pellegrina. The shining, pretty tag that was ~~on my~~ ~~the~~ ~~present~~ present, looked nice. It had a big red bow. I climbed down my ladder to go to open it.

When I opened my present, there was bubble wrap. Then I saw the end of some hard ears. It was like pass the parcel it because there <sup>were</sup> so many layers. Then I saw the head, I realized it was mine. He had bright blue eyes. His nose looked so realistic, like a real ~~bunny~~ bunny nose. I was wonder if it is. His clothes were made out of leather and silk. When I felt its tail, it was fluffy and small. ~~which~~ I loved it so much.